To Miss Corcoran:

You entered W.H.S. with the class of '58, and, as class advisor for three years, you have helped make our high school days unforgettable. In grateful recognition we make this your book.

To Mr. Macfarland:

You have worked unfalteringly as football coach, class advisor, and teacher to make our years at W.H.S. a little brighter. With deep appreciation, we dedicate this book to you.

MR. EDWIN MACFARLAND

HIGH SCHOOL - AN OPEN DOOR TO THE FUTURE

I. Simone

Foreword

When we entered the door of Winthrop High School last September, it seemed that the year stretched endlessly before us. Now as we cross the threshold to another year, if we should look back, we would see that the days passed much too rapidly—football games, basketball games, "Caesar and Cleopatra," the senior social, spring activities—all gone by. Before we close that door and turn to the future, let us enjoy a last glimpse of our year through the pages of the 1958 Echo.

Our Superintendents — The Old and The New.

Orrin C. Davis

Mr. Davis graduated from the University of Massachusetts and received his master's degree from Boston University. He became superintendent of Winthrop schools in 1946, the same year in which the seniors became first graders. Now, as those first graders near graduation, Mr. Davis has retired. He plans to move to Florida for a career of swimming, fishing and occasional substitute teaching. Good luck, Mr. Davis, and thank you for the wonderful years you have given us.

Arthur W. Dalrymple

Mr. Dalrymple graduated from Winthrop High School. He then attended Cushing Academy, the University of New Hampshire, and received his master's degree from Tufts. He began teaching at Winthrop Junior High School, and was later transferred to Winthrop Senior High School. In 1951 he went back to the Junior High School as sub-master. On January 1, 1958, he succeeded Mr. Davis as superintendent of Winthrop schools. We are sure that our school system will make great progress under his direction.

Mr. Davis and Mr. Dalrymple confer before Mr. Davis's departure January 1.

Opening the Doors on Our Faculty

Mr. Leslie L. Dunham, Principal

For many years Mr. Dunham has served as principal of Winthrop Senior High School. He has given our school a great deal of prestige through his experienced leadership. We all appreciate his tremendous effort to make our school a good one.

*Mr. Ralph L. Duplin,
Sub-Master*

No school could function properly without the aid of the sub-master. For us Mr. Duplin has served in this capacity most efficiently, besides teaching mathematics and helping to guide students toward their chosen careers. In addition, he acts as Faculty Manager of Athletics.

Miss Jessie M. Porter, the Director of our Guidance Department, is a great help to all the students of Winthrop High School. We truly realize how much she assists us in planning our high school courses in preparation for our future careers.

Mrs. Agatha Hatlas, the busy secretary to our principal, is not only a great help to Mr. Dunham, but to the whole student body. Whom else can we go running to for a key, a stapler, or an invitation to a prom?

Mrs. Florence Hannaford, secretary to Miss Porter, is always on hand to make appointments and hand out various application forms to the worried senior class.

Varied Academic Courses Are Taught by Capable Teachers

Art classes, illustrated by this busy group, are under the direction of Miss Dorothy E. Sharples, whom we see in a typical pose. Miss Sharples is assisted by Mrs. Camille Passamonti and Mrs. Carolyn Harlow.

Our school offers several excellent courses in the dramatic arts, such as dramatics, speech arts, and public speaking. Mr. Robert Leibacher, shown coaching one of his classes, conducts most of these courses. Miss Anne Hey is also an instructor in this department.

Liberal Arts Courses Include Required History and English

The History Department:

"What happened 'D' day, the sixth of June?" "When was the U. N. started?" Questions like these and many, many more have been ably answered by our obliging History Department, which is always ready with an answer. The faculty members include Miss Agnes Mahoney, Mr. Wilbur Halliday, Miss Viva Blackburn, (Head of the Department), and Mr. Edwin Macfarland.

The English Department:

Mrs. Doris Mowry, Mr. Philip Anderson, Miss Florence Wilder, (Head of the Department), Miss Mary Dunsford, and Miss Margaret McIntyre. Before the year is out, our English Department will hear many "Thank-you's." They have given us a rich background, not only in preparation for college and the business world but also in the general usage of our mother tongue.

Mr. Anderson's Junior College English class shows great concentration on the lesson at hand.

The Importance of Math and Science Is Recognized at W.H.S.

Many different office machines plus transcription equipment help our students become office workers much in demand.

A senior stenographic class works busily under the supervision of Mrs. Inger Jenner, who replaced Mrs. McDaniel in December.

Industrial Arts

Our music department is under the expert direction of Mr. Harry Harotian, who conducts the school band, choirs in all three classes, and choral music classes.

The Yearbook for 1958

At the very beginning of the school year, the yearbook staff assembled for the first time to puzzle over a theme for our yearbook. This was only the beginning of a long and difficult, but rewarding, task. As the months flew by, Lillian O'Connor, our Editor-in-Chief, Irene Scimone, our Associate Editor, and the rest of the staff met to complete the seemingly unending job of write-ups, pictures, checking names, meeting deadlines, and doing everything else that goes along with producing a yearbook. With the aid of our able and patient advisor, Miss Wilder, we did our utmost to make this yearbook one of the most memorable ever presented to Winthrop High School.

Little Sir Echo

This year our school newspaper, Little Sir Echo, has taken on a new look. Under the fine direction of Mr. Philip Anderson, the newspaper has really kept us informed, by giving a good coverage of all school activities and many other items of interest.

Priceless Precision — Our Majorettes

No half time show or parade would be quite complete without the presence of these girls at the head of the band. Because of its excellent performances the majorette squad, along with the band, was invited to participate in a Boston University pre-game parade. These girls' crowning achievement came at Thanksgiving, when, complete with Indian headdresses, they twirled to the beat of the tom tom amidst the deafening applause of both sides.

JUNIOR MAJORETTES

This squad also has been practicing constantly preparing for the parades and for the time when they will become senior majorettes. Good luck, girls, living up to the performances of our senior majorettes will be no easy task.

Our Band

At the first fall rally, the band very proudly displayed bright new royal blue uniforms, which have continued to give a peppy atmosphere throughout the year. During the football season the group did some very interesting shows, including an elaborate Indian sequence at the Thanksgiving Game. After the football season a short concert in conjunction with the chorus was presented for the Winthrop Women's Club. On January 29 the band held its annual Parents and Friends Open House Night. Later in the year a reciprocal trip and joint concert were held with the band of a Connecticut school. Then our musical group attended the Southeastern Massachusetts Music Festival at Quincy in May.

Two members of the band were selected through auditions to be sent to Springfield in March to play in the Massachusetts All-State Band. These members are Norma Wolfson, flutist, and Stephen Pizer, clarinetist.

Under the able leadership of Mr. Harry Harotian, who is responsible for everything which the band has accomplished, it has greatly improved its performance standards.

The Activities Committee

Our ambitious and hard working Activities Committee, made up of representatives from each homeroom, played a major role in our school life. The officers (Patti Paone, President; Marie DeBonis, Vice President; Dolores Tacelli, Secretary) and their capable advisor, Mr. Ralph Duplin, successfully led the student group.

The Committee sponsored a lunchroom clean-up campaign, and was active in getting support for our athletic teams. As in previous years, members of the committee assisted the faculty in planning an enjoyable Field Day.

A Career Day, when professional personnel gave talks on their various fields, was an activity in May. For this occasion the following served as a committee: Lucille Scopa, (chairman), Phyllis Mancuso, Daniel Appleton, Joel Cherwin, Judith Nelson, Paul Shell, Patti Paone, and Dolores Tacelli.

Lights — Camera — Action!

The Projection Club, directed by Mr. Eben Colby, is a great help to the school in classrooms and in the auditorium. The club members learn to run the movie projectors, tape recorders, film strip machines, etc., during workshop periods, where the more experienced boys teach and mark the others. The members are marked for each machine and are qualified to run it when they receive an "A." Until then they watch and help the older members. We all are grateful to these boys for giving up their free periods to help the school.

Quest for Knowledge

A record breaking membership this year forced the Science Club to hold all its meetings in the auditorium. A fine schedule was planned for the year including field trips, instructive movies, interesting lectures, and finally the banquet.

In March the annual Science Fair was held. This was the result of fine planning by individual members. Representing our science club at the Globe Science Fair at M.I.T. were the first prize winners of the fair.

Our faculty advisor, Mrs. Edna Carlton, gave expert advice on projects for the individual members, and assisted the club officers with helpful guidance on all club affairs. Officers for this year were as follows: President, S. Waddell; Vice President, J. Matarazzo; Secretary, C. Perry; Treasurer, J. Mahegan; Program Committee, P. Paone (chairman), J. Moore, A. Springer, J. Deutsch, D. Shanbar, J. Tick; Science Fair Committee: M. Leventhal (chairman), E. DeLott, D. Young, J. Pearce, M. Edwards, A. Lynch.

With a Song in Their Hearts

During the lunch periods, one can often hear the happy sounds of voices belonging to members of either the sophomore, junior, or senior choirs.

In addition to the regular choirs, Mr. Harry Harotian, our music director, has also organized an A Cappella Choir. This group is made up of twenty-five selected girls and boys who were chosen for their ability to sing and to perform without accompaniment.

Special choral music periods, besides the usual choir periods, have been scheduled so that individual help can be given.

The entire choir sang at a meeting of the Women's Club in November. The performance was so good that it was repeated at an assembly for the whole school. At the Spring Concert the choir sang various selections from recent musicals.

Say "Cheese!"

The Winthrop High School Photography Club is directed and advised by Mr. Edward Herland. The members of this club are taught the fine art of effective photography, as well as developing and processing techniques. At each meeting one member carries on a discussion involving his particular camera. In this way the members become acquainted with the many different types of photography equipment and learn how to operate each correctly. The Photography Club is presently conducting a contest to choose the best snapshot taken by one of its members during the summer.

A difference of fifteen points in two games would have given our inexperienced football team a winning season this year. Besides playing some tough games, they had to play all their games away from home, because of the work being done on Miller Field.

Thirty-two out of forty-five players will return next year, and, with their newly-gained experience, Coach Macfarland is looking forward to a good season.

The Cheering Eight

No matter what game we attended, we would always find those eight terrific cheerleaders leading the team to victory. These girls spent many hours practicing, and even writing new cheers so that Winthrop High School could be proud of them. They showed us by their wonderful school spirit that nothing is gained by being a poor sport and that everything is gained by going to the games and cheering our teams on to success.

This year the squad consisted of four seniors and four juniors: Carolyn Perry (head cheerleader), Jackie Jones, Valerie Daly, Ellen Gustavson, Nancy Fritz, Jean Foley, Sandra Stolzberg, and Lorraine Kugell. Their faculty advisor was Mrs. Doris Mowry.

Northeastern Conference Champs

Our championship basketball team, which clinched the Northeastern Conference title in its last game, is, without a doubt, one of the best teams Winthrop has seen in many a year. Sparked by captain "Brother" Milano's hustle, John Monahan's high scoring, and the combined teamwork of Charlie Oliver, Bill Sliney, and Arnie Springer, the Winthrop hoopsters have fought their way to a 14-1 season—losing only to Marblehead in a tight game. The Winthrop bench played a vital part in this great season.

In the last game, "Jumpin'" John Monahan topped the Conference scoring record of 229 points, held by a former teammate of his, Marty Fischer. John, who entered the game with 216 points, scored 29 and now holds the record of 245 points for one season.

Good footwork beneath the boards as Monahan looks on.

Potential Bonus Babies

The 1958 baseball season could be one of the most notable in Winthrop High's history. Around a nucleus of veterans, Coach John Domenico hopes to mold a Northeast Conference champion. The group of promising sophomores, the first Little League group to enter the high school, should strengthen the varsity team and provide excellent material for the junior varsity team. Coach Domenico is very pleased with the addition of Puncard and Newburyport to the conference and with the idea of playing three games a week.

To sum up prospects for the season. Coach Domenico stated, "We have a good blend of experienced upperclassmen and promising sophomores. We could use a strong left-handed pitcher, but if we hit, we have an excellent chance to win the league title."

Several of the boys, including Captain Al Luongo, who ran for our champion team last year, will be returning for another year of competition. Along with many promising sophomores, these veterans will form a strong track squad proficient in such events as the broad jump, the high jump, the shot putt, relays, and dashes and runs of varying distances.
